

WHP's Be gone™ Combination Remedies

Combination remedies are a perfect introduction to homeopathic medicine. Combinations simplify the selection process by offering two or more remedies most commonly used to treat a specific symptom in each dose. WHP combinations have been used safely and effectively since they were formulated in the early 1900s.

Homeopathy

In the late 1700s, the German medical doctor Samuel Hahnemann established homeopathy as a treatment of the root causes of disease, not merely treatment of the symptoms of disease. Homeopathic medicine is an approach to using ingredients (mainly botanical and mineral substances) that have been manufactured in such a way that the active ingredient(s) are reduced to a "micro-dose." This ensures that the product can be safely used by people of all ages, without side effects. Homeopathy has popularity with both consumers and practitioners worldwide, and because of its safety profile, is an excellent approach to self-care for a variety of ailments. Be gone™ products should have a place in your home medicine chest.
